Members of the GTU Community:

As you are aware, I have stepped into the role of Interim President, while continuing to serve as Dean and Vice President for Academic Affairs, following the resignation of Rabbi Daniel Lehmann. Looking ahead, I would like to take this opportunity to nonetheless recall words he shared in an op-ed published by JWeekly:

“...At the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley, we believe that religion can be a source of hope, and a way of fostering engagement across differences at a time when we are in desperate need of bridges, rather than walls.”

As we embark on the GTU’s next chapter, in the coming months it is my priority to continue the vital work of building such bridges.

Through the active fostering of philanthropy and strategic partnerships, as well as thoughtful, continued investment in academic innovation and ingenuity, I look forward to partnering with the Board of Trustees, Councils of Presidents and Deans, as well as our wider community, in continuing to strengthen a GTU culture of bridge-building that provides a safe, productive and creative environment to support the extraordinary and inspiring scholarship that takes place on our campus every day.

Thank you for being a part of this special community, and for your contributions to making it a true home for interreligious life, learning, and leadership.

Peace and blessings,

Uriah Kim, PhD.

Digital Learning Workshops

Designing Engaging Online Presentations: Effective Visual Design
Thurs, March 5th 1:30-2:30pm (online via Zoom)
Friday, March 6th 10:00am-11:00am (Collaborative Learning Space)

It is difficult to produce effective online lectures and presentations with boring and text-heavy PowerPoint slides. Effective visual design enhances the delivery of your learning content and helps make the content clearer for the learner. This workshop discusses how to create effective presentations and lectures so that students can “see what the instructor is trying to say.”

Overview of VoiceThread
Thursday, March 12th, 1:30-2:30pm (online via Zoom)
Friday, March 13th, 10am-11am (Collaborative Learning Space)

VoiceThread is a great tool for enhancing student engagement and collaboration in the online classroom. It is a slideshow tool that provides both the instructor and students with the virtual space to have meaningful asynchronous discussions through audio or video. This workshop provides an overview of how to create both video and PowerPoint lectures on VoiceThread, develop collaborative activities for your students, and use VoiceThread for student assignments.

Brown Bag Lunch Talk with Matthew Hartman
Friday, March 6 | 12-1 PM
CARE’s Brown Bag Lunch Series features presentations by recent CARe/GTU grant recipients, students, faculty, and staff. Our March talk will be given by 2019 Spring CARe Grant recipient Matthew Hartman (PhD, GTU), who traveled to Cork, Ireland in June 2019 to give a paper at the Conference of the International Society for the Study of Religion, Nature, and Culture.

His paper, The Historical Relations of Our Ecological Crisis: Theology, Colonialism, and Capitalism’s Logics, draws on art, literature, and film to challenge the concept of the Anthropocene and its increasingly dominant cultural narrative in describing the current era of climate change. Matt will explore the alternative concept of Capitalocene, which highlights the intertwining nexus of theology, capitalism, and colonialism to engender new religious thinking and creative artistic renderings.

Second Sundays in the Gallery
Sunday, March 8 | 1-4 PM
Every second Sunday of the month, the Doug Adams Gallery will be open from 1-4 pm. If you can’t make it during the week, this is a great time to stop by, see our current show, AFTER/LIFE, and chat with the curator.

Rituals for dealing with death and remembrance reflect a wide spread of beliefs. AFTER/LIFE presents two such expressions in the contemporary arts community. The lives of artists Ed Aulerich-Sugai and Mark Mitchell, both affected by HIV/AIDS, reverberated in radical acts of love. Aulerich-Sugai succumbed to AIDS-related complications while Mitchell’s life was saved by antiretroviral drugs.

Aulerich-Sugai’s legacy is lovingly preserved by his surviving former partners who carefully uphold his place in the community’s collective memory. His work is represented in AFTER/LIFE by his large-scale paintings series, Figures, created in the final year of his life. The melancholy, almost translucent nudes appear weightless on canvas, suspended between life and death.

Mitchell chose to express love for his community by designing exquisite custom-made burial garments for his friends. Mitchell’s creamy, luscious, fluid garments are suspended from the gallery ceiling. Using antique sewing techniques with obsessive details, Mitchell fashioned dresses and gowns to adorn his friends in their afterlives.

HIV/AIDS and Ministry: Then and Now
Thursday, March 12 | 5-7 PM
Join CARe for a panel discussion presented in conjunction with our Spring 2019 exhibition, AFTER/LIFE, which features the work of Ed Aulerich-Sugai and Mark Mitchell. Both of these innovative and inspiring artists were affected by HIV/AIDS, leading to Ed’s death in 1994.

Our diverse group of accomplished panelists will discuss spirituality, ministry, and community in the days when AIDS was first recognized and in more recent times.

Moderated by Dr. Bernard Schlager (Executive Director, CGLS), our panelists are: Bishop Yvette A. Flumer (City of Refuge UCC), Rabbi Jane Litman (Jewish Roundtable, CLGS and Rabbi, Chico Havurah), the Rev. Elder Jim Mitulski (Interim Pastor, Island United Church UCC, Foster City and AIDS activist), and Steven Tierney (Professor Emeritus, counseling psychology, California Institute of Integral Studies, and Clinical Director, Seeds of Awareness, Oakland).

Third Thursdays at BAMPFA
Thursday, March 19 | 4:30-5:30 PM
Berkeley Art Museum and Film Archive, 2155 Center St, Berkeley

Every Third Thursday of the month, gather in the lobby of BAMPFA to receive complimentary museum admission and to hear a short talk on a current exhibition given by a member of the GTU community.

Our March talk is given by Rev. Gideon M. M’Imwonyo-Mbui (GTU PhD student, Theology and Ethics), on the exhibition Rosie Lee Tompkins: A Retrospective. Rosie Lee Tompkins (1936–2006) is widely considered one of the most brilliant and inventive quilt-makers of the late twentieth and early twenty-first centuries. Her reputation has grown to the point where her work is no longer considered solely within the context of quilting, but celebrated among the great American artistic achievements of our time. Rosie Lee Tompkins: A Retrospective is the largest and most comprehensive exhibition of the artist’s work to date, featuring approximately seventy quilts, pieced tops, embroideries, assemblages, and decorated objects. It reveals Tompkins to be an artist of extraordinary variety, depth, and impact.

‘Shield, help, & bring to joy’: Pilgrimage through sacred song

Abstract: This lecture explores the healing, protective, and mnemonic capacity of music as used in the context of religious pilgrimage. In the 12th century, Godric, known as ‘the Hermit saint of Finchale’, gave up his life as a merchant seaman to embark on a lengthy pilgrimage. He eventually settled in Durham, England, where he befriended wild animals and lived an ascetic and contemplative life. He had mystical visions that prophesied the murder of Thomas Becket, to whom he served as an advisor. At another time, the Virgin Mary gave Godric a hymn to be used when healing or protection was sought. The music was recorded on paper and bound into manuscripts at points where his vision is recounted.

Recently, Guy Hayward and Will Parsons, who co-founded the British Pilgrimage Trust in 2014, have been traveling with Godric’s Marian hymn and others, singing the songs in community as part of interreligious ritual praxis. Art historical and ethnomusicological methods are employed in order to posit a trans-temporal approach to Victor and Edith Turner’s idea of comunitas-through-culture, which serves to highlight the integral role of music in translating the pilgrimages of the past into the present. Music, large, can be understood as ‘Canterbury water’ for the 21st century.
